TechSource Awarded Contract to Provide Enterprise Information and Architecture Services to the Navajo Nation's Division of Public Safety (NDPS)

TechSource Inc. is pleased to announce it has been awarded a contract from the Navajo Nation's Division of Public Safety (NDPS). TechSource and information technology subject matter experts from AmVet Technologies, LLC will provide full life cycle Enterprise Information Architecture analysis and implementation assistance.

Under this contract the TechSource Team will assist NDPS with the deployment of cutting-edge enterprise information and architecture resources focused on the development of an Enterprise Architecture Program Plan (EAPP). The EAPP will be used to rapidly and cost-effectively transform NDPS processes and infrastructure in order to optimize their ability to address the current and emerging public safety needs of the Navajo Nation.

The TechSource Team will concentrate on identifying and mapping existing NDPS administrative and operational processes and procedures followed by integrating industry best practices into an implementable program plan tailored to the Navajo Nation's unique requirements. The plan will guide NDPS' future actions, necessary to employ a responsive integrated design that optimizes the NDPS Information Technology infrastructure.

Our technical expertise, combined with our awareness of the unique cultural and geographic challenges of the modern Navajo Nation, will enable the TechSource Team to quickly and efficiently address the technical, managerial, and organizational issues facing NDPS. The TechSource Team will provide comprehensive domain knowledge with experts in: Public Safety, Emergency Management and Preparedness, Disaster Recovery, Physical Security, Law Enforcement, Systems Design and Integration, Enterprise Architecture, and Telecommunications. The TechSource Team is privileged to work with the Navajo Nation and is proud to contribute to an improved and highly capable public safety environment.
