TechSource Honored for the Eighth Time as One of the Fastest Growing Companies in New Mexico

Los Alamos, NM. Flying 40 announced today that TechSource, Inc. was named one of New Mexico's fastest growing companies. This is TechSource's eighth time receiving this distinction. Inclusion on this list is direct recognition of TechSource's decades of hard work, client-centric focus, and unwavering dedication to preserving and transferring knowledge to future generations. TechSource is gratified to be named one of New Mexico's top-tier fastest-growing companies.

"To have TechSource make the Flying 40 list for the eighth time is incredibly special," says V. Brian D'Andrea, President and CEO of TechSource. "TechSource has provided science and technology consultancy services for over three decades. We have grown to the point where we are nationally recognized as a leading resource of senior-level expertise and a trusted partner to those tasked with solving issues of national importance. Our clients know we can provide the targeted expertise they need to succinctly bridge the technical, scientific, and management gaps within their projects and organizations. I cannot stress enough that every part of TechSource's success is the direct result of our talented cohort's ability to leverage their expertise, our overall willingness to consistently evolve offerings, and our commitment to engage the expertise needed to drive results."

The Flying 40 program sponsors are the Albuquerque Journal's Business Outlook, Delta Dental, Innovate Albuquerque, KPMG LLP, New Mexico Bank & Trust, NMA Ventures, Sandia Science and Technology Park Development Corporation, and True Health NM.
