TechSource, Inc. is a Top Workplace for Fifth Year in a Row

Los Alamos, NM. TechSource Inc. is proud to be named a Top Workplace for the fifth consecutive year by the Albuquerque Journal. We are honored for the repeated recognition of this prestigious program.

"Our team represents the gold standard in our industry, consistently surpassing expectations and delivering outstanding, enduring results," said Curtis Christensen, Senior Vice President of Operations-West. "Their unwavering dedication is the cornerstone of this incredible achievement. Sustaining this success year after year exemplifies how, as we continue to grow, we've developed a scalable and adaptable structure that not only drives performance but also prioritizes our employees."

Top Workplaces are determined entirely by employee feedback, collected through a confidential survey conducted by the employee engagement firm Energage LLC.

"As a fully employee-owned company, TechSource is committed to creating a strong, values-oriented workplace culture that empowers our employees, prioritizes transparency and communication, and celebrates innovation. We are energized by the survey feedback and look forward to working even harder to ensure that we exceed our cohort's expectations every day," added Human Resources Director, Andy Henderson.

Our commitment to employee satisfaction and growth is reflected in our high retention rates. We offer clear career paths, opportunities to join passionate and innovative teams, competitive compensation, and the chance to learn from world-class mentors and experts.
